A PERMANENT SHOW.

PROPOSITION BY THE EXPOSITION TO THE CITY OF RALEIGH.

d Structures to Be Erected-Battles tween Moonshiners and Bevenue Officers-Temperance vs. Politics, RALFIGH, N. C., November 21.—The sanagers of the Southern Interstate Ex-

n state that if Raleigh will give for ten years they will build thereon a permanent structure, covering three acres on the ground floor and two acres on the by steam cars as well as electric cars. The the city authorities. The Exposition has been a success. It has had over 72,000 visitors, and these mainly a good class of people, who have spent on an average two days here, thus leaving much money. In a financial way the Exposition has thus made itself felt here.

A lively battle between revenue officers and Moonshiners has occurred in Montgomery county and another in Stanley county near Albemarle. In the latter there was much firing and one man hit. Three Moonshiners were captured, with a fine pair of mules, a wagon, and 150 gallons of whiskey.

The Colored Methodust Conference of this State is in second at Wadesboro'.

this State is in asssion at Wadesboro'. Bishop J. J. Moore, of Salisbury, is presiding. The Methodist denomination has great strength among the negroes.

The Educational Board of the Northern Presbyterian Church has ordered the construction of a $20,000 building for a college at Rockland Springs, Cabarras county.

The attempt to induce the State Tempe The attempt to induce the State Temperance Convention, which adjourned last evening, to take up the prohibition question and form a party fell very flat. One speaker pressed the matter, but found no support. Ten years ago the temperance question got into politics, but its advocates are determined that it shall get there no more. This is also the view of N. B. Broughton, the president of the State Temperance Association. ALLIANCE GOSSIP.

ALIANCE GOSSIP.

The extreme Alliance men centend that the attacks upon L. L. Polk were the real cause of his re-election. All the talk among politicians is about this matter, particularly in North Carolina, where the Alliance, with its 105,000 white members, is so powerful a factor. The question is asked by some, Will Polk come to North Carolina and make a fight here? He certainly has a strong following, and every step he takes is a matter of interest to the Democrats of North Carolina. The party in Virginia, where Polk's influence is relatively small, cannot appreciate the effect these things have in this State. The result at Indianapolis has unquestionably increased the complication. Democrats will have to show great unity of purpose and prepare for such a fight as they have not had to make in North Carolina since 1876.

The Christian Conference of North Carolina and Virginia has ended its largest session, 200 clerical and lay delegates being present. The report shows that there are 6,000 members in Virginia and 10,000 in North Carolina, and that the denomination is gaining strength quite rapidly.

The old boards of directors of both the Oxford and Henderson and Oxford and Clarksville railways have been re-elected. Clarksville railways have been re-elected.

The Murfreesboro' railway is to be completed by next Saturday.

M'DOUGALD MURDER TRIAL.

Roper, John Currie, John Wilkes, George
Currie, Dr. Currie, Dr. Prince, G. D. Everington, Poweil Hill, W. S. Graham, A. F.
Bizzell, George Rich, and McKay McKinnon were the witnesses examined to-day.
The evidence consisted in identifying McDougald's handwriting and establishing the fact that the prisoner at the bar was instrumental in Conolly's taking out the $5,000 insurance policy on his life, making his aunt, Margaret Conolly, the beneficary

A TELL-TALE POSTAL-CAED.

In the event of the policy-holder's death, and that McDougaid paid the first premium ($239) on the policy.

A postal-card was introduced ostensibly for the purpose of weaving the web of evidence closer around the prisoner bearing date of "Laurinburg, N. C., September 13, 1890, addressed to D. C. Roper, agent of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, of New York, at Tatums Station, S. C., as follows:

"Very respectfully, "D. A. McDougald's part to poison Conolly last fall with strychnine in candy, John Wilkes, a near-by neighbor, testifying that Conolly came to his house one morning about the latter part of November last directly from the defendant and was suddenly taken violently ill, shaking and jerking, finally keeling over and making the moise of a dying man, at which Wilkes became alarmed and sent post-haste for Dr. Currie, who came and pronounced the symptoms similar to those produced by taking poison into the stomach, in which copinion other physicians concurred. The testimony of G. D. Everington and his clerk (Mr. Hill), druggists of Laurinburg, was that McDougald bought of them on one occasion ten cents' worth obrandy drops and five cents' worth obrandy has the feet of the first produced by taking poison into the stomach, in which cepts (Mr. Hill), druggists of Laurinburg.

THE SUIT OF CLOTHES. McKay McKinnon testified that he saw the prisoner at his house April 25th last, who told witness that he was going over to McKinnon's mill, at Campbell's bridge, after some clothes he heard had been found there, and which defendant thought would form an important link in evidence against the murderer of his uncle, Simeon Conolly; that he returned about noon with the clothes, and showed witness a light pair pants, an undershirt, slightly soiled about the neck, and a package of lampblack, and asked if he did not think the pants had been worn by a ploughman, and derer.

McDougald has in every instance proved an unspotted character. It is now alleged that the most startling testimony has been purposely withheld for the last. The testimony for the defence will hardly be opened before next Tuesday. The court adjourned till Monday.

A TEMPESTUOUS VOYAGE. The Quartermaster of the Britannic

Washed Overboard and Lost. NEW YORK, November 21.—The White-Star Line steamer Britannic arrived at her dock this morning, after one of the roughest voyages the vessel has experienced in her seventeen years' buffeting of the waves of the Atlantic. She left Liverpool on the 11th instant, when the terrific gale was sweeping around the British coast and playing havoc with shipping. She ran into a boiling sea that sent mighty volumes of water over the vessel. The crew were compelled to cling to the ropes to keep from being swept overboard. One tremendous sea boarded the vessel, swept over the deck, and carried with it Quartermaster Thomas McKenzie, who, in going over the rail, gave a piercing cry of despair. He disappeared in the angry waters and was seen no more. In such a sea nothing could be done for him. The Britannic continued to meet very rough weather during the greater part of the voyage, and for the most part the passengers were unable to go on deck. The time of the voyage was eight days, eight hours, and five minutes, covering 2,791 miles. [By telegraph to the Dispatch.]

(By telegraph to the Dispatch.)

INDIANAPOLIS, November 21.—As a result of the miners' meeting held at Washington, Daviess county, last night 500 more miners struck this morning. This brings the number of miners now on strike in Indiana to about 4,000. There is great rejocing among the Brazil miners, as the Washington men have held out against all overtures up to the present time. While the Indiana miners are idle this last accession to the strikes' ranks will make the supply of Indiana coal practically nothing.

VIRGINIA'S HARBOR.

The New Transatiantic Flacts-Twenty

Great Steamships-Large Building

Operations to Commence.

NewPorr News, November 21 .- Our people are naturally very much pleased at the announcement of the inauguration of service in four regular steamship lines com-prising twenty steamships to be estatished between this point and London Liverpool, Glasgow, and Havre. However, they are not surprised. It was bound to come, as all must appreciate who are acquainted with the advantages of Newacquainted with the advantages of New-port News as a port, its geographical sit-nation and the immense area its railroad connections drain and distribute to. New-port News is the port of the Atlantic coast. It has a plenty of depth of water, is nover obstructed by ice, and is nearer to the great northwestern, southwestern, and western commercial centres than any other harbor on this seaboard.

SOME OF THE BENEFITS. I notice that the telegraphic dispatches in referring to this great enterprise allude to the import and export trade that will develop. That is a mere item in the aggregation of benefits to be derived, important as its. These regular line of steamers will increase the floating population and greatly advantage the retail trade. They will give an impetus to the trade in ship stores. They will necessitate the building of new piers, and be the means of advertising vastly the place as a coaling station.

However, the greatest advantage will be their effect on that tremendous industry the ship-yards and the manner in which the permanent population of the piace will be increased. I was about to say that the projectors of the ship-yards "builded better than they knew." That, however, is not so. They foresaw that great transatiants ship lines, with Newport News as one of their termini were in the inevitable logic of the development of this country, and in proceeding on the immense scale they did they prepared to meet this demand that would be made upon them. When there lite; shall be fully under way the result cannot fail of being that the ship-yards and dry-docks will be wirked to their full capacity in repairing and building new ships. This means a large increase in population of the best class of mechanics who will make Newport News their permanent home and induce the establishment of minor industries. It means the putting into circulation of an immense amount of money weekly, for these men get good wages. It means supplementing by several thousand the list of those who desire to become house-owners and rear and educate their children here. It means an increase of schools and churches and stores and as Already values are stiffening, but not I am happy to say to speculation prices. There is an intimation here that a Richmond syndicate has purchased or are negotiating to purchase three hundred of the lots of the Newport News Company. gottating to purchase three numbered the lots of the Newport News Company, and will commence building at once. How true this is I do not know, but certain it is if it is true the syndicate are wise. The plat of the Newport News Company is the residential plat of the place. Every improvement made by the authorities of the city must go right through it, and in the immediate future every house that is built upon it will be in demand by either would be purchasers, or renters. That is as fixed as anything human can be. The Richmond syndicate have, therefore, accepting it as a fact that the negotiations have been, or will be closed, taken time by the forelock, and a good harvest is in store for all others who may purchase before the improvements put on the lots send up values. Every house that is built send up values. Every house that is built on the land of the Newport News Com-pany adds permanent value to every other lot in the place, for the reason that Newport News cannot expand with-out expanding over this property, and that it must expand rapidly within a com-ravetively chort time is universally recogthat it must expand rapidly within a comparatively short time is universally recognized by some of the most astute men, not only in this but in other communities. The influx of population from the new steamship lines is a thing of the immediate future and not a matter of speculation. The ship-yard men, the real-estate men, the business-men, and the capitalists are recognizing this in a most practical way, and are preparing for it. Another year will, it is confidently pradicted, see a tremendous addition to the people on these busy streets and a large extension of the built-up area of the city.
